ATLANTIC FLEET IS ORDERED TO TAMPICO

Transport Hancock to Sail from New Orleans With 800 Marines

SITUATION CONSIDERED GRAVE AT WASHINGTON

Government Backs Mayo De- mand—O'Shaughnessy Urges Huerta to Order Salute

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels has ordered Admiral Badger, commanding the Atlantic fleet, to proceed immediately with all his ships to Tampico. The fleet is now at Hampton Roads. Simultaneously the transport Hancock has been directed to sail from New Orleans for Tampico with 800 marines. The battleship South Carolina, which is northward bound from Santo Domingo, has been intercepted by wireless, and the cruiser Tacoma at Boston has also been ordered to Tampico. The entire torpedo fleet at Pensacola has been ordered to be in readiness to sail at a moment's notice.

NO FURTHER TEMPORIZING

WITH HUERTA IS THE WORD

Administration officials openly declare there will be no further temporizing with Huerta. He will be given a demonstration of force. Whether he will accede to the demand to salute the flag is still problematical. According to reliable authority it was Lind who told the president he believes the time for temporizing is over. He gave the counsel the result of which was the ordering of the fleet to sail for Tampico. The ships making the voyage are the battleships Vermont, Arkansas, New Jersey, New Hampshire and Delaware; Destroyers Benham, Cummings, Wright, Cassin and Parker, all at Hampton Roads; the battleships Kansas, Michigan, Illinois and Mississippi at Philadelphia; battleships North Dakota, Washington, Ohio, Wyoming, Louisiana, at New York. They are already coaled and are ready to leave tonight or tomorrow. It is believed Admiral Fletcher will get the command when the fleet arrives at Tampico.

When Secretary Bryan saw Secretary Daniels' statement he refused to comment. He said: "Naturally you can see the reason for the action taken." When asked if he had communicated his action to O'Shaughnessy, he replied: "I have already said I will not dissent and refused to answer when another correspondent asked if O'Shaughnessy had been directed to obtain his passport from Huerta.

The United States already has ten warships and twelve hundred marines in Tampico harbor. The navy department said it would take eight days for the combined fleet to reach Tampico under forced draft.

When asked through Secretary Tamm why he sent back word that he had nothing to say at present, it is believed he expects Huerta, seeing his bluff called, to yield to the order to salute the flag.

It is learned that troops on the border have been provisioned for sixty days and are ready to entrain at an hour's notice. The coast artillery on both coasts are so equipped that they may be used as the infantry quarter-master's office has complete information necessary for the impressment of coastwise shipping including that of the Southern Pacific, from New York to the Gulf vessels.

PRESIDENT CALLS ADVISERS INTO GRAVE CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Pears that the Mexican government's attitude at Tampico will force the landing of United States marines is growing hourly. Government officials here admit that the situation is more tense. President Wilson, Secretary of State Bryan and John Lind conferred here this morning. Later it was reported, although the report was not confirmed, that they discussed a time limit for compliance with the demand for a Mexican salute to the American flag.

Feared Dago Frank Would Confess Crime

Several days before the four gang fighters who killed Herman Rosenthal, the New York gambler, were to be electrocuted at Sing Sing there were strong rumors that Dago Frank, the Italian, would tell the whole story of the shooting. It was feared by the friends of "Gip the Blood," "Lefty Louie" and "Whitney Lewis," who were Jews, that the man of another race, losing hope at the last minute, would make a clean breast of the case. The reports grew so strong that District Attorney Whitman of New York county, who had convicted them, made preparations for such an eventuality.

Twice Governor Glynn had refused to reprieve them till after the second trial of Lieutenant Becker, the policeman already convicted of having hired the gangsters to kill his enemy.

IDEAL WEATHER TO STOP SHORT IN BASEBALL CITIES

Opening of Season for Major Leagues is Propitious Everywhere

TENER SEES VICTORY IN AIR DESPITE FEDERALS

Northwestern Season Opens at Seattle—Clevelands Play at Chicago

BY HAL SHERIDAN
NEW YORK, April 14.—The coronation of King Swat was the chief business before the country today. Although an annual ceremony, the same old thrill was on hand when in eight different cities the baseball season was formally opened and the National and American League teams were sent away in the pennant races. In the American League the world's champion Athletics opened their first battle of the year with Frank Chance's rejuvenated Yankees in New York. The Cleveland Naps clashed with the White Sox at Chicago, the St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers opened in Detroit, and Clark Griffith led his Washington team against the Red Sox in Boston. The National League swung into its race with the Giants at Philadelphia, the Chicago Cubs hurling themselves upon the Reds at Cincinnati, Pittsburgh at St. Louis, and Boston and Brooklyn clashing at Ebbets Field, across the bridge. The cracking of the baseball lid comes after one of the wildest seasons of the Winter League in history, during which a club president was unhorsed, three new managers installed in the National League, and both factions of organized baseball shaken to their foundations by the onrushing Federals, who staged their first game of the season yesterday. Ideal weather prevailed in the majority of the cities where the opening games were played, except in Cincinnati, where it was threatening. President Tener of the National League, who is also governor of Pennsylvania, arrived at Brooklyn for the opening game. He predicted a banner season, despite the existence of the third major league, the Federals. The American League expected the biggest crowd at Chicago, where Cleveland plays.

Season Opens in Northwest
SEATTLE, April 14.—The Northwestern League baseball season opened here today.

THAW WINS HABEAS CORPUS SUIT TODAY

Judge Aldrich Holds Prisoner Till New York Can File Appeal in Case

CONCORD, N. H., April 14.—Harry Thaw's demand for release on a habeas corpus writ was upheld today in a 32-page opinion rendered by Federal Judge Aldrich. Many pages were devoted to the methods of the New York authorities in trying to secure Thaw's return to Matteawan by extradition. The court held that the state's right to extradite for crime does not apply in a case of insanity. No formal order was made discharging Thaw, however, as it is desired to give the New York authorities time to perfect an appeal to the Federal Supreme Court. Although the decision failed to give Thaw his immediate freedom, it is regarded as a distinct victory to him, since only an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court now stands between him and liberty.

Jerome Still on the Trail
NEW YORK, April 14.—Aldrich's decision does not make the slightest difference," said William Travers Jerome today when told of the ruling on Thaw's application for a writ of habeas corpus. "I will take the case to the supreme court and fight it there. New York will not change her contention that Thaw was personally responsible for his own escape from Matteawan. This decision merely brings matters to a head."

City Passing Law Requiring Standard for All Berry Boxes

GAS TESTING LAW IS NOT YET A LAW

An Ordinance is Proposed to Establish a No-Speech Zone Here

When you buy a three-quarter-pound box of strawberries in Santa Ana, you get from eight to eleven ounces of strawberries. Seldom indeed do you get twelve ounces. That is a condition that the City Trustees propose to change. Trustee George McPhee, who is also county sealer of weights and measures, presented an ordinance last night that when passed will take Santa Ana out of the cities that are "skinned" by the strawberry box system. Trustee W. L. Grubb said the same defect that has existed in the handling of strawberries exists in relation to eggs, but owing to universal custom in handling eggs by the dozen instead of by weight there seemed nothing that the city could do.

The ordinance brought in by McPhee fixes a standard of contents for berries. It provides that raspberries and logan berries shall be sold in boxes that shall contain not less than one-half pound of berries and that strawberries and other berries not already mentioned shall be sold in boxes that contain not less than three-fourths of a pound of berries. Any person selling a box of berries under weight is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not less than $5 nor over $50.

This ordinance will be made into law as quickly as possible. Last night it was referred to the city attorney on first reading, and will come up next Monday night for final passage.

"Los Angeles, Pasadena and other cities have ordinances regulating the weight of berries per box," said McPhee. "I know it to be a fact that strawberries are sold in boxes here that could not be sold in Los Angeles. I have weighed the contents of a box of these three-quarter pound boxes and they contain from eight to eleven ounces of berries, according to how they are packed. I found one crate in which the boxes averaged from nine to nine and a half ounces. Another crate had boxes ranging from ten and a half to thirteen ounces. The same boxes easily hold three-fourths of a pound of blackberries. It seems to me senseless that cities of this county should be given a deal like that by these Japanese strawberry growers. I am assured that practically all the cities of this county will pass an ordinance like this, and I think Santa Ana should pass it. Los Angeles has prosecuted Japs under this law, and made it stick, and the Japs changed their orders for berry boxes to the larger size."

On the egg proposition, Grubb said that a dozen eggs will vary in weight from twenty-one to thirty ounces, and he thinks purchase of eggs by the dozen is an injustice to the consumer.

Not Yet Settled
The Trustees seem not to be any closer to a decision as to the passage of a gas testing law than they were a week ago. Last Monday the proposed ordinance to establish a method of testing quality and pressure of gas was referred to Trustees Grubb, McPhee and Alderman for investigation. Grubb was unable to go to Los Angeles with McPhee and Alderman when they saw Burkhardt, a gas expert.

Alderman stated that Burkhardt stated that natural gas will undoubtedly be above the requirements of the proposed ordinance, and as long as the natural gas was supplied the city would probably have no occasion to test the quality, but should refer a return to manufactured gas for any reason whatever, a test would be advisable, because a gas manufacturing plant has not been in use for some time would be more likely to make inferior gas than one that had been in use right along. Burkhardt said the apparatus for the work would cost over $200. Alderman stated that when the matter came up first he was told that the apparatus would cost $200 or $2200, and last week other experts said $500 or $600, and now Burkhardt says $200.

Burkhardt said that extracting gasoline would benefit the gas rather than hurt it. However, Manager Champion of the Southern Counties Gas Co. has stated that the natural gas that Santa Ana is to receive will not have the gasoline extracted. Since the gas company already has some of the needed apparatus it would be no hardship upon it to require it to install all needed testing apparatus. Alderman said the ordinance would not hurt the company while good gas is served, and the city ought to know if poor gas is served.

Grubb wanted to know who Burkhardt wanted to know who Burkhardt

WET FACTIONS WON AT NEWPORT BEACH AND MOTHER COLONY

The question as to whether Anaheim and Newport Beach should remain "wet" or go "dry" was the most exciting one involved in the municipal elections held in all the cities of the sixth class in the county, yesterday. All incorporated cities in the county voted except Santa Ana, which is of the fifth class. Newport Beach had a direct vote on the saloon question and the beach city remained "wet" by a majority of 23. Anaheim did not bring up the saloon question directly. There, it was merely a question of avowed principles on the part of the candidates for city trustees. The "wets" won out.

No excitement was caused by the election at Orange, there being but one race, that between W. E. Clement and Miss Alma Grumm, for city treasurer. Clement won out by a majority of 233 votes.

The results in the various cities follow:

NEWPORT BEACH

SALOONS WILL STAY: VOTE 199 TO 176
NEWPORT BEACH, April 14.—Saloon will continue to be licensed in the city of Newport Beach. This was decided by a vote of 199 to 176 at the municipal election held here yesterday.

Eight candidates were up for election as city trustees. The three who were elected were George P. Wilson, 213; Stetson R. Jumper, 209, and H. A. Robertson, 178. Arthur R. Lott received 147 votes, S. L. Collins, 105; Arthur N. Smith, 95; Albert Hermes, 61, and J. A. Ricker, 1. Mr. Ricker was not formally on the ticket.

The ten propositions as to whether the city of Newport Beach should continue to maintain its power of control over the various corporations were defeated in every case. The State Railway Commission thereby gets control of the rates, etc., to be charged by the corporations. The vote on Proposition No. 1, whether the city should retain its power of control over railroad corporations, stood, for 127; against 177. No. 2, over street railway corporations, for 133; against 165. No. 3, over common carriers other than the above two, for 132; against 169. No. 4, over gas corporations, for 125; against 164. No. 5, over electric corporations, for 131; against 168. No. 6, over telephone corporations, for 136; against 160. No. 7, over telegraph corporations, for 131; against 161. No. 8, over wharfingers, for 146; against 160. No. 9, over warehousemen, for 147; against 150. No. 10, over water corporations, for 125; against 198.

The vote on the question as to whether the City Trustees should be paid a salary of $15 per month, stood, for 244, against 87.

ANAHEIM

WET CANDIDATES ARE GIVEN THE PREFERENCE

ANAHEIM, April 14.—At the municipal election held yesterday for the purpose of electing three trustees, a treasurer and clerk, the wet candidates won by a large majority. It was one of the most exciting elections in the history of the city.

The results of the voting: For trustees, John H. Brunworth, 798; Julius J. Schneider, 782; George W. Hamler, 690. The other three candidates running for trustees were, D. Gervais, Jr., 630; P. T. Edmiston, 617, and W. B. Allen, 599. There was no opposition to the candidacy of Edward B. Merritt for city clerk. He received a vote of 1147. Edgar J. Hartung defeated Charles A. Boege in the race for city treasurer by a vote of 723 to 611.

The question of paying the trustees a salary was defeated by a vote of 754 to 377.

HUNTINGTON BEACH

ELECTION YESTERDAY WAS QUIET AFFAIR

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 14.—The municipal election in this city was an exceedingly quiet affair, there being no issue at stake to cause any division of sentiment. Every voter here for a greater Huntington Beach. Only 280 votes were cast. Of this number Will E. Tarbox received 276; W. B. Huston, 244; C. S. Bundschuh, 106; C. W. Warner, 92, and H. F. Shorting, 58, for the office of city trustee. Tarbox and Huston being elected. For city clerk, C. R. Nutt defeated H. B. Little by the decisive vote of 282 to 88. R. E. Graves had no opposition for the office of city treasurer and polled 297 votes. The proposition to pay the city trustees a salary of $10 per month was approved by a vote of 242 to 62. Considerable interest surrounded the election of Huston to the office of trustee, as he has only resided in this city since May 12, 1913—less than the time required by law—but he and his friends say he can and will qualify, and there are others who say he will not be able to do so.

FULLERTON

FOUR TRUSTEES ARE SELECTED FOR CITY

FULLERTON, April 14.—Four trustees were elected here yesterday, two for a four-year term and two for a two-year term. Eugene Livingston and August Hiltcher, received, respectively, 452 and 381 votes, for four-year terms. Arthur H. Johnson, 306, and George C. Welton, 226, were the other candidates up for the four-year term.

To serve two years as city trustees, George Annis, with 497 votes, and Richard S. Gregory, with 403, were elected. The other candidate, M. A. Clever, received 384 votes. George S. Treher was elected to the office of city clerk, receiving a vote of 282. There were three other candidates for this office, Glen C. Randall, 160; C. A. Giles, 155, and C. R. Allen, 121.

The race for city treasurer was fairly even. William R. Collis received 376 votes and John R. Gardiner, 336.

The question as to whether the trustees should be paid a salary of $10 per month received a vote of 151 in the affirmative and 113 in the negative. However, it is likely that the measure was defeated, as in the opinion of the city attorney of Fullerton, the question needed a majority of all the votes cast in order to be successful.

MEMORIAL TO TITANIC HERO

Memorial Bridge at Augusta, Georgia, Dedicated in Major Butts's Honor

HUNDREDS FROM OVER NATION AT CEREMONY

Taft Spoke Appreciation of Georgian's Character—Masons Presided

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 14.—Two years to the day, from the ill-fated night on which the Titanic carried to the bottom of the Atlantic in her giant hull 1490 souls, citizens of Augusta today united to pay respect to the memory of Major Archibald Butt who went down in that catastrophe to a hero's grave. An elaborate bridge in memory of Major Archibald Butt, formerly aide to the president, was formally dedicated, with impressive ceremonies. Former President Taft, to whom "Archie" was a dear friend as well as a protector, was present and added a few words of appreciation of the Georgian's character. Hundreds of prominent people from all over the country attended. Temple Noyes Lodge, of Washington, of which organization Major Butt was a member, attended in a body. The bridge dedicated to Major Butt was built partly by private subscription. It was really the ladies of Georgia who conceived the plan and carried it into effect. The city had appropriated for a simple, plain structure. The ladies of the state formed a memorial association and raised nearly $20,000, which has been expended in statues, memorial tablets and decorations for the structure. The dedication exercises began at 2 o'clock and were in charge of the Masonic fraternity.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Flowers from the White House and those left by devoted friends in official, diplomatic and army and navy circles, covered the memorial monument to Major Archibald W. Butt, in Potomac Park here today.

WANT DISTINCTION BETWEEN DYER AND DELHI MADE PLAIN

A good many residents of Delhi declare that an injustice is done their locality oftentimes when Mexican rows that occur at Dyer are reported as having occurred at Delhi. There is a forty-acre field between the two places, and to outside officers the two places are generally spoken of as one, and that one name so frequently applied to both is Delhi. That is what the Delhi people object to. They would like people to know that Delhi and Dyer are not one and the same.

Before the sugar factories were established the district was known as Delhi. The school district of Delhi includes both Delhi and Dyer and the voting precinct of Delhi includes both Delhi and Dyer. The section is generally spoken of by outsiders as Delhi. After the Southern California Sugar company factory was established a sub-division was established and for a time was called South Santa Ana. That name did not stick, and by common usage the name drifted back to Delhi.

When the Santa Ana Co-operative Sugar company plant went up land near it was sub-divided and was built up with houses now occupied almost entirely by Mexicans. The Americans of Delhi state that practically all of the Mexican troubles occur in the Dyer sub-division. They state

OLD-TIME COLD CURE— DRINK HOT TEA!

Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

Los Angeles Produce Market
Considerable discussion as to the outcome of the pronouncement issued by the government against all Hawaiian fresh products, with the possible exception of pineapples and bananas, was a feature of yesterday's trading. It is only during the past two years that the islands have been shipping anything worth attention outside of these products to California. This year the receipts of alligator pears, onions, tomatoes and other vegetables and some fruit have been real factors in the market, and dealers have been looking forward to an increasing business in that direction. Owing to the number of parasites and scales which are inimical to the general fruit interests of the country, the department of agriculture has declared that further importation shall be stopped by May 1. Pineapples and bananas that are sent in must be thoroughly inspected and fumigated before being allowed off the dock of unloading. The present demand for pineapples is very good, and with a few heavy receipts the market may decline on account of the abundant supply of berries. Blackberries and raspberries were more plentiful than ever this season yesterday morning, and the price on them was down, blackberries selling as low as 10 cents.

The demand for eggs was fair, but owing to receipts of eastern and northern stock in addition to continued arrivals of good size from local producers, the price declined to 20 cents. There was no change in the San Francisco quotation. Receipts for the day were 538 cases.

FINE SERMON ON "THE HOMELAND"

Recent Sermon Preached by
Rev. Paul E. Wright at First
Christian Church

The Homeland—1 Cor., 2:9-10, was the text for a convincing sermon lately preached by Rev. Paul E. Wright, and which follows:

There is a feeling that we know very little of Heaven. This is true if we reduce our knowledge to the evidences of our senses and consider nothing more. Should we do this, we would limit our knowledge very considerably. But, if we take into account those deep, pure, peaceful emotions that are our when we commune with Him, who is the giver of the peace that passeth understanding, we may experience much of Heaven. There is no knowledge that surpasses experience. We are satisfied if a thing works; Christian heart-life works.

There has been much argument whether heaven is a place or condition. I think it is both. Jesus says: "In my father's house are many mansions." "I go to prepare a place for you." "Our Father who art in heaven." From this I learn that wherever God is, there is heaven. I also read that He dwells with the lowly in heart and contrite in spirit. Now am I at fault if I conclude that heavenly things in my heart, and God dwelling in me, makes me a heaven in my soul? I care not whether it is up or down, here on this earth or some distant sun, if only my Father is there. Wherever a heavenly condition exists, as a matter of course, there the place is. Spirit can no more exist without place than a body can do so. Somewhere it is present, somewhere it is absent. It is also easily seen that in a heart where God does not dwell things unheavenly abide.

I have selected two verses for the sermon this morning because they show the two sides of our subject. We are familiar with one side of it. No verse is oftener quoted than the first to show the great mystery that surrounds the home of the soul. With its quotation we usually stop. This morning we wish to go on. Great injustice, not to say violence, is often done to the Scripture teaching by stopping too soon. There are very few verses but need the other verses closely connected with them to make their meaning clear and full. So we often hear: "Eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man the things that God hath prepared for them that love him." But let us hear the conclusion of the matter: "But God hath revealed them unto us by His Spirit."

My first thought then is that we do not learn of the things of God through the senses. "Eye hath not seen." The eye is concerned only with distance, color, form, symmetry, and these are always changing. The very fact that they do change leads us into a desire to contribute to the rapidity of the change. It delights us to see the new things. It becomes a lust with us. "The lust of the eye is next kin to the lust of the flesh and the pride of life." So very strong is this passion of the eye that we rarely wait to see the real beauty that there is in the thing that is passing. The eye is more easily deceived than perhaps any other sense of the mind, yet we prize it the highest. We have developed one of the arts in this very character of the eye. The masterpiece of the painter depends upon the skill with which he deceives the eye; in his painting the waterfall never falls, the tree never waves, the cattle do not low; simply a good imitation of the real thing delights us. Great soul values cannot be entrusted to the eye alone. It by itself is an unreliable witness. But we must see things, and see them for ourselves, for the greater satisfaction the mind can enjoy of the passing of the things of this world.

"Ear hath not heard." More people get their knowledge through this avenue to the mind than any other

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat and Take Salts
for Backache or Bladder Trouble

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

way. Most of us are intellectually lazy and mentally indigent. We want someone to tell us the news of the day, to give what the author said on a given subject, to tell us the opinion of someone supposed to be authority on any matter. And so on. There is a drowsy quiescence pervades our mental being. It is so pleasant to be told things and not have to look them up or think about them. Ideas make us sleepy. So our torpor and sloth grows apace.

We do not stop to think that what we have learned thus is only hearsay after all. Then, we do not hear things straight. There are more cross-eyed people than there are 1000 different people and there are 1000 different impressions born. What a ringing challenge the Master sends to the trifling hearer, "He that hears to hear let him hear." When they cannot hear straight how can they repeat the message without brand? God is not going to trust His kingdom to the hearsay of everybody. He has an intangible witness and to him will be entrusted the weighty matters of His world.

Neither have entered into the heart of man.

There are many things that the heart can do that are given in the scriptures that I am led to believe Jesus and his apostles have in mind the mind of man when they speak or hear. It is said of it that it can reason, think, ponder, remember, believe, love and imagine. It seems to fulfill the functions of what we call the mind. Now I wish to deal with just two of these things. First, the imagination of the heart. The heart of man cannot imagine anything beyond what he has seen or heard. In any line that they are full of old ideas. There are certain principles laid down in nature that we must conform to in constructing, building, developing, writing; no matter what we undertake some laws must be obeyed. Nature is a great dramatist. Now it is not what we have conceived in our hearts or minds but what we have received from God that counts in life. We could hardly imagine that it is more blessed to give than to receive. Our experience is the other way; it is happier to receive than to give. We never create, we receive. We are in heart shall inherit God or that the meek shall inherit the earth. These are revelations. The Christian system could not very well be the product of the imagination of the heart of man. It contravenes things that the average man wants to do. He would not create such a system.

Then we notice that the heart can love. There is not a word in our language that has been more shamefully prostituted than this sweet word of the Bible. The noun and its adjective have been dragged into the foulest fields of human passion. But love as it is used by the Master is far different in meaning to the ordinary use of the term. It is neither a romantic term nor one that binds kindred, nations or races together. It is that deep concern that a person has for the wretched and unhappy. It is feeding the man that cannot pay back. Giving a feast to the helpless. Jesus shows clearly that the fellow who needs me is my neighbor. This is a new sort of love. This is the love that makes heaven dear and precious to us. It is the love the Father has shown. It is not a love that we are commonly acquainted with. It has not entered into the heart of man to love like this save as the Spirit of God leads him.

This then is the essence of our little talk. The love we have for the needy, ignorant and helpless is not of this earth. It is of heaven. It brings heaven to me. I cannot reason that it is more blessed to give than to receive. But my Christian experience has taught me the blessedness of giving to those who need the small ministrations I may do for them.

Now it seems to me that it is the mission of the church to bring as much of the kingdom of heaven down to men as to get them ready to go to some far off place in the future. If we love not man whom we have seen how can we love God whom we have not seen? I understand that human values and hearts and lives are to be extended into the great beyond. Death brings no transformation of character. That comes in life. Heaven can surely have no sweeter joy than the earth affords to the follower of the Master who goes about doing good.

hart is, and was told that he was a gas expert of the Edison company. Grubb said he did not want to take the advice of an employee of a company that might be a competitor of the gas company for lighting.

"I want to be fair to the consumer," said Grubb. "I have not had time to investigate, and I do not know that this ordinance is fair. Bradford, Pa., has had natural gas for thirty-three years, and we may never have to return to the use of artificial gas. I do not see that this is a necessary ordinance. It seems to me that it is a case of straining at a gnat."

"We have been swallowing the cost of this gas business for fifteen years," said Melrose. "It won't cost over $10 to pass this ordinance, and we will have it on hand for use if we need it. It is not unreasonable. Just now we can offer the complainant no information or remedy."

It was finally decided to continue the committee that it may consult some more experts and reach a conclusion.

Clean Place Out

McPhee stated that although Alex. Allee has been sent to jail and although the Trustees had revoked the rooming-house licenses of Allee's two houses on West Fifth street, the places are kept open and are complained against. On the advice of the city attorney that it could be done, the Trustees instructed the city marshal to clean the places out and close them up.

Calls Attention

Alderman read a letter written by the Crandall Construction Co. to a property owner on Sycamore street, south of Third, stating that his signature by private contract would be received up to the time that Crandall commences laying cement on the street. Alderman said that the agreement with the city was that the signatures would be received up to the time of pouring of cement before in any line of the property not signed for. On Alderman's motion, the clerk was instructed to notify Crandall that the trustees will insist on the agreement being carried out fully.

No-Speech Zone

An ordinance was read proposing a law to prohibit public speaking on Fourth street between the east line of Sycamore street and the west line of Bush street and on Main street between the south line of Fifth street and the north line of Third street. As drawn up by the city attorney there was also a prohibition of assemblages of persons.

The number was blank. Alderman objected to prohibiting assemblages, because he thought the streets should be used by the people, who might gather on a corner for some other purposes than hearing a speech. He objects to having the street taken away from those who want to use it for lawful purposes. He thought there should be no mention of assemblages. Heathman said three persons gathered together might be considered an assemblage. The ordinance was referred to the city attorney for amendment, the assemblage portion not to be included.

Want Finished Jobs
An ordinance suggested by Alderman was read. By it the city will not accept any new additions or subdivisions until the streets and alleys are put to grade and sidewalks and sewers established and put in by the owners, provided that the Trustees may accept a bond for the improvements.

Alderman said that property that has been assessed as acreage has in reality only paid a proportion of taxes about as it should pay for the use of the outfall. While the movement might be considered radical, Alderman said the plan would work out for the benefit of the people and city and in the interest of equity.

Grubb said he thought the ordinance a good one.

It was referred to the city attorney, taking the usual course on first reading.

The city engineer proposed an ordinance changing the datum plane used in this city to sea level, the datum plane to be a mark on the city hall. At present the datum plane is marked at Fourth and Broadway.

A map of Heninger's Third addition, approved by the proper officials, was presented and approved. The addition is sidewalked and the streets put to grade to the satisfaction of the city engineer and street superintendent.

The Newbert Protection District was given permission to plant eucalyptus trees on a portion of the river bank at the sewer farm, the trees eventually to become the property of the city. The trees are to be put in to protect the river bank.

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring Back its Color and Luster
With Grandma's Sage
Tea Recipe

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—Advertisement.

Women Everywhere

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Women from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from all sections of this great country, no city so large, no village so small but that some woman has written words of thanks for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No woman who is suffering from the ills peculiar to her sex should rest until she has given this famous remedy a trial. Is it not reasonable to believe that what it did for these women it will do for any sick woman?

Wonderful Case of Mrs. Stephenson, on the Pacific Coast.

INDEPENDENCE, OREGON.—"I was sick with what four doctors called Nervous Prostration, was treated by them for several years, would be better for a while then back in the old way again. I had palpitation of the heart very bad, fainting spells, and was so nervous that a spoon dropping to the floor would nearly kill me, could not lift the lightest weight without making me sick; in fact was about as sick and miserable as a person could be. I saw your medicines advertised and thought I would try them, and am so thankful I did for they helped me at once. I took about a dozen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and also used the Sensitive Wash. Since then I have used them whenever I felt sick. Your remedies are the only doctor I employ. You are at liberty to publish this letter."—Mrs. W. STEPHENSON, Independence, Oregon.

A Grateful Atlantic Coast Woman.

HONGKONG, ME.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health. Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Bradford Named as Chairman;

Decided by Lot

At a meeting of the County Board of Forestry, held this afternoon at the courthouse, A. S. Bradford was elected chairman of the board. According to law, lots had to be drawn to determine the length of terms to be served by members of the board, with the following results:

To serve two years, A. E. Bennett, Tustin, and R. E. Larter, Wintersburg; to serve three years, Willard Smith, Villa Park, and T. E. Stephenson, Santa Ana; four years, A. S. Bradford, Placentia.

It was decided that the regular meetings will be held on the last Tuesday of each month.

ONTIVERAS GONE NO TRACE OF HIM JURY BLAMES HIM

Guillermo Ontiveras is named by the coroner's jury as the murderer of Timoteo Gebarra, who was killed in a Mexican row Sunday morning about 4 o'clock. Ontiveras has not been located by the officers, and it seems likely that he has made a safe getaway, with Mexico as his destination.

Coroner Winsinger held an inquest yesterday. Under Sheriff Law was one of the witnesses. He gave a resume of the information gathered by him from talking to numerous witnesses. The best story that he could get of the affair was that Ontiveras struck the death blow with a club after Gebarra was down on the ground.

Ramon Valenzuela, known as Cuco, was a witness. He said that Gebarra had pestered him to fight, and had followed him home, where Ontiveras took up his quarrel and chased Gebarra two and a half blocks with a club. Cuco says he followed to prevent Ontiveras from hitting Gebarra.

The case is typical in that it is exceedingly hard to get at the real facts in the case.

CHAMP GAME ON TOMORROW

Poly Plays Fullerton Here; First Set-to of County Series

Tomorrow Santa Ana High and Fullerton meet on the Poly grounds for the first of the county championship games for the local boys. Fullerton has already met and defeated Huntington Beach. Santa Ana was the "off" team on the first round so instead of playing, furnished the "umps" for the other games. Anaheim is due to provide the "indicator holders" for tomorrow's game.

Bill Warren, who was counted on for the heavy work in the championship series has been ordered by his doctor to quit. His shoulder won't stand the strain of pitching as it throws out of place with every ball delivered. This is a heavy loss to the team, not only because the "big side wheel" has to quit but it breaks up the infield. Pete Duhart has been selected to offer up his choicest slants to the Fullerton batsmen. They may find something among them to their liking, but if Pete is in his best form there will not be very many of these. That he will be able to deliver the goods in the box the coach and captain haven't any doubt. Shallenberger will be held over for the game with Huntington Beach next Saturday.

The big job before the coach is to reorganize the infield. Various line-ups are being tried out. It looks as though Corillo would continue on first, with Capt. Carver holding down the opposite corner. H. Snow will be tried out at short and J. Cannon put in at second. Leo Brown will be there with the big mit as usual.

In the outfield Joe Irvine will hold down right, "Big Spud" will ramble over center, while in left the choice hasn't been decided upon.

The game should call out a good attendance, being a championship contest with the present holders of the cup. Fullerton has won the Hill-Carden cup two years straight, a win this year will give her the permanent possession of it. The coach believes the local boys will show up better tomorrow than in any of the games to date. The vacation brought the bunch out last evening with more pep. A game with the intermediates gave them plenty of base running practice, something they have been weak on all year. The batting of the team is still a cause of worry to the coach but it is being worked on hard each evening.

The game will be called about 3 p. m.

CONVICTS FIGHT STERILIZATION

KEOKUK, Iowa, April 14.—Federal Judges Smith, McPherson and Bollock are today hearing the appeal on Iowa's new law calling for the sterilization of insane and habitual criminals by the state board of parole.

The attack is being made by thirty convicts in the state penitentiary at Fort Madison who have banded together and employed a lawyer. The state parole board had already put the law into force in the three inmate asylums, where fifty operations have been performed. The board issued an order for operations at Fort Madison, but it agreed with the attorney for the convicts to withhold action until the law can be tested in court. The convicts claim that the law is in violation of their rights guaranteed by the federal constitution.

After Dinner Chats With Apricot Growers

By J. G. Berneicke, M. D.

Let the apricot grower, bent from toil, straighten his back, lift up his head and smile, because of the good things that have happened within the last few days and weeks to put him in possession of the products of his labor. The joining of the large Ventura county association and of the smaller Orange county association into the California Cured Fruit Exchange should put heart into every apricot grower, whether he is a member or not. I am not writing for our membership alone. My sympathies are broader than that. In vision I see the day where every dried fruit grower will have joined the Exchange, and all will form a brotherhood of mutual good will. In further vision I see the day when the consumers of our products will have formed themselves into leagues which will make it possible for us to serve them direct, and bring about the advantage of a fair exchange; a fair price for an honest product. But while we are waiting for this fair day to appear, we must stand along, meeting difficulties as they arise, but ever going forward toward the aim.

When these two associations were organized four years ago, the business of dried fruits production took a long step forward. And another great boost has been given now. Just to illustrate how this thing works out in practice I will recall the year 1911, with its near disaster. In both Ventura and Orange counties a large number of growers had joined themselves into associations. They ceased to compete against each other. So far so good. But when the slump in price came the larger association with an experienced manager was able to pay its members 8 cents, and the smaller association had about 6 cents. There was the spectacle of co-operators working against each other.

If at that time there had existed an exchange and both had been in it, this useless, senseless competition against each other could not have occurred. They would have presented a solid front and could have had at least from 10 to 12 cents.

If those of us who favor the exchange could bring no other argument into play than this alone, that under the new arrangement such throat cutting competition will be impossible, it would be a strong enough argument.

In its first year of existence the exchange has done $800,000 worth of business. And this has been done with a small office force and with much less expense than business is done by the big packers. During the coming year the business will be between one and two million dollars. Mr. Bolster, sales manager of the exchange, who was present at the annual meeting, said: "We have 120 brokers in the United States and Canada, and 50 brokers in Europe, with a European representative who represents 32 large buyers. Europe is the largest buyer of apricots, while peaches are consumed more largely in the United States, but prunes go all the world around."

But the news is by no means complete if I should fail to tell you of Banning and Hemet and Elsinore. F. M. Butler had come down from Banning to meet Mr. Jeffrey, and to become acquainted with our work and our people. The association there, organized about six months ago, has 44 members, and more will join as soon as they are ready to put up a packing house. This they are contemplating now. They expect to handle about 500 tons of peaches and prunes, and from 150 to 200 tons of apricots. Every grower is expected to join as soon as facilities for packing are provided.

From Elsinore we were able to greet Mr. Chas. F. Schubert and Mr. E. C. Lillie. The latter told us that three years ago he made the first attempt to start an association there, but the attempt then failed. The good seed, which has now culminated in a successful organization including every grower, was sown by the corresponding secretary of the Orange County Dried Fruit Association. And just to show the difficulties under which we then labored I will go back to the incident. We were, of course, very anxious to come in touch with apricot growers everywhere, but how to reach them was the question. I addressed letters to the postmaster, the bank and the newspaper, with the request to send me the names of apricot growers interested in organizing an association. I had one reply and the name of Mr. Lillie was given me. I corresponded with him about organizing and also sent articles to the newspaper. This is the correspondence he referred to as having given the start to the attempts to organize the apricot growers of Elsinore. They expect to put up a packing house, and estimate their crop at 90 to 100 tons of dried apricots, and of prunes 30 to 50 tons.

O. D. Ellis of Hemet told how the association was started in October, has now 65 members, "all volunteers." "We expect soon to have 100." They will again have a bumper crop, about 600 tons dried. They also expect to put up a good packing house, and are gathering information with reference thereto.

These three associations have already agreed to handle the selling of their pits as one body. They will probably join with us on this matter.

MODERN "EFFICIENCY"

Every period, every year, has its own pet watchword. "Efficiency" is the slogan now. Few periodicals and few public speakers feel their arguments in tune with the key-note of the times unless they dwell on this word.

In New York City for the past week, they have been holding an "Efficiency exposition." Every one that has a machine or a device by which to systematize and eliminate work is there in his little booth, arguing, gesticulating, demonstrating. The question sometimes arises if the machine or the system does not create more work than it saves.

"Efficiency" is not wholly a new word. Any man who ever worked at a trade will recall many arguments between old time workmen as to the most efficient method. Certain methods were always handed down as the most efficient. But there was always a debatable borderland. A roomful of workmen would waste the boss's time, while they were arguing which of two methods was the more efficient.

There is now a tendency to hold oneself up, and to hold others up, to certain fixed standards of production. The old time workman sat down to his bench with a comfortably indefinite idea of the amount of work that he was going to turn out. He disliked the fettering grasp of timetables. He often stopped to play by the way-side. If a neighbor dropped in, they began to talk politics. If the day's work did not show up well at 6 p. m., he consoled himself by thinking that there had been unusual difficulties to surmount.

Now well conducted newspapers have a certain hour at which every page must go to press. The factory employe has a normal standard production. The good business man consults his timetable hourly. It all involves nervous strain. But it is a part of the great industrial advance, by which larger comforts of life and more play-time are being secured.

JUSTICE IS TARDY

It is very nearly twenty-five years since the seriffed film for photography was perfected. From that time to this the rightful ownership of the patent has been in dispute. The courts have only just made a final decision that Rev. Hannibal Goodwin was the inventor, and the assignee of his patents is the rightful owner. Mr. Goodwin died a dozen or fifteen years ago, having received no benefit from his invention, or very little.

Cannot the legal system of the United States do better than that? Can't it decide any man's right to anything in a great deal less than twenty-five years, say, in five years? It is said that Mr. Goodwin was for a long time without sufficient means to prosecute his case. But if that is true it is a more serious indictment of our judicial system than mere dilatoriness.

A judicial system ought to do justice whether one of the litigants is poor or not. Cannot the judges and lawyers of this country devise a system under which a man of small means can have it determined whether he is the owner of a valuable patent, or not, within some reasonable period, say, five years? Bar associations and judicial commissions have from time to time discussed this subject and recommended things, and nothing practical and substantial is done.

Why could not Mr. Goodwin and the other claimants have gone before a judge and stated their cases and got a decision in ninety days?—Riverside Press.

TAXES ON BUSINESS

Do taxes on business help business or hurt it? How often do you find a business man who wants his business taxed? If we tax the goods in stores the merchant must pay the tax himself, and cut down his profits, or he must add the tax to the price of the goods, and thus cut down the purchasing power of the customer's dollar. If he cuts down the purchasing power of the customer's dollar, he does less business than he should do. But he has to add the taxes to the price of the goods, so as to stay in business. Some merchants are afraid to charge higher prices, so they cut down on the quality of their goods; and the customer gets less for his money.

Some cities and towns in California may want to quit taxing business. But they can't quit. The constitution won't let them quit. They can do so if the voters approve the amendment for Home Rule in Taxation, which will allow any city or town to tax business or exempt business, as the people of the city or town prefer. If the people want to pay taxes on improvements and personal property, all right; but if they want to quit that sort of taxation, why not let them quit?

POOR MAN'S NIGHT COURT UNDER NEW LAW IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 14.—A new night court, with civil jurisdiction only, has been authorized by the legislature for the adjustment of wage questions affecting employer and employee in amounts not exceeding a certain sum, and it is expected the first court will be opened in this city at an early date. It will be a "poor man's court" in a strict sense and was authorized because it is hard for working people to get to court in daytime.

REVIEW OF THE FINANCIAL SITUATION

By L. F. PARSONS, Manager of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange

(From the Los Angeles Financial News.)

Trading prices and stocks have moved along in a halting, hesitating way for the past week and investors and business men generally are still cautious, inclined to be conservative, but not pessimistic. The bright spots in the sky of finance and trade are eagerly sought and encouragement developed from any fortunate circumstance which arises. That the expected improvement in trade has not altogether materialized cannot be questioned, but progress can be discerned in many directions and the great underlying fact is that the public wants to be, and is, optimistic.

Public Desires to Be, and Is, Optimistic

Improvement in trade has not altogether materialized cannot be questioned, but progress can be discerned in many directions and the great underlying fact is that the public wants to be, and is, optimistic. This optimism will be reflected in trade conditions sooner or later. Just when it will be impossible to state, but the best experts agree that the time cannot long be delayed. The energetic campaign being carried on by the great railroad systems for increased freight rates and the fact that many people believe that general business depends on the granting of the increase is undoubtedly a large factor in the present security market from a trading standpoint. I believe it is only from that standpoint, for, whether the petition is granted or not, and no one will know what the decision will be until the decision is rendered, the fact that we will undoubtedly have enormous crops this fall, which will have to be moved, will increase railroad earnings from the natural standpoint of increased business, and the idle freight cars will be the phenomena rather than the actuality. The fact that in all lines of business times like these lead to a cleaning up process, a sifting of expense account and a general inquiry into conditions and things with the idea of bringing about greater efficiency, is always an element of strength and without question your conservative business man is just at present endeavoring to do away with a great amount of wasteful extravagance which has accumulated in his business during the flush season now past.

This thought naturally leads one to the question of taxes and their increasing burden. The entire civilized world seems to be experimenting the same trouble and, while I am not one to decry improvement nor not to retard the march of progress in any manner, still such figures as are shown by the report from New York, where the per capita taxes have increased from $27.09 in 1903 to $49.37 in 1913 are certainly significant and in considering the proposed local improvements, which run into millions, should give us pause. Municipal and other governments have spent money with a lavish hand for improvements that are not directly productive. Individuals and corporations have been obliged to economize; why not governments? In many cases, I believe, it can be done without impairment of the efficiency and utility in municipal affairs and to the decided advantage of the public and taxpayer. Although business all over the country is quiet, the Pacific Slope is witnessing considerable improvement and one of our most active and reliable investments is real estate and the shares and bonds, mortgages, etc., issued against the same. No bugaboo so quickly scares the investor in anything that has real estate for its direct basic security as the cry of high taxes or increased taxation.

Why Not Municipal Economy

Of course most of the interest in trading is centered around the doings of Union Oil, the probabilities and improbabilities of a deal, the good points and the bad points of the annual statement just issued, and all else that enters into a proposition where millions are at stake and the real inside facts hard to get at. Referring to the annual statement, as it appears to me, the good points more than offset any bear argument. In the first place, this is one time the company has issued an annual statement devoid of extraneous matters and whose contents have been boiled down, sifted and resifted, until their remains only the bare facts in all their baldness and crudity. This is as it should be and will do much to strengthen the company's position with the investing public. I am told that for the first time in the history of the company the crude oil and other products on hand have been figured at actual cost and proper deductions made for seepage and other losses. Also numerous wells and other items that have been carried on the books at their full face have received proper rating in the charges to depreciation. There has been a disposition to use the knife of cold reason and good accounting and, while, as I have previously stated, the statement does not in some respects come up to what some of us had hoped for, still, as shown in the paragraph under "Liabilities," there are many points upon which the stockholders are to be congratulated.

How often you have heard men say, "when I want clothes I always go to Huff's and let them fit me out, for there I can depend upon the quality, style and right price."

Our idea of this business is to always live up to the reputation we have for value giving and the service we render our customers.

With a stock like ours we can handle your most particular needs in a way that will suit you best.

A SUB-TROPICAL FRUIT OF GREAT PROMISE TO CALIF.

BY REGINALD BRINSMEAD, REGISTER STAFF WRITER.

The Cherimoya (Annona Cherimolia), while not a recent introduction into the state, is, nevertheless, one of the more promising of the little known subtropical and tropical fruits which are at present attracting attention among the horticulturists and fruit growers of the thermal or citrus belt. Growing to a height of between 15 and 25 feet, with spreading branches, it makes a much larger tree than the orange or the lemon. Some varieties are about as hardy as the orange tree, and flourish where given similar cultivation and care; in fact such hardy varieties will do well wherever the orange will do well. It is semi-deciduous, but the extent to which it will shed its leaves during the winter depends upon the amount of cold experienced.

Where at its best the fruit of the Cherimoya has been likened to a delicious sherbet or ice cream, and when thoroughly chilled on ice provides a dessert which can seldom be equalled. It reaches a weight of two or three pounds and has proved well adapted for cultivation in Southern California. Picked before fully ripened on the tree—to prevent bruising by falling on the ground—it is a good "shipper;" and the fact that numerous shipments which have been sent from Southern Mexico to Southern California have arrived in good condition, although no particular care has been taken in packing them, still further demonstrates its carrying qualities.

It is believed that the Cherimoya was first introduced into California from Mexico by the late John R. B. Ord, of Santa Barbara, in 1871, forty-three years ago; and from these many seedlings have been propagated around Santa Barbara. Further south one of the first plantings was made in the Calheunga valley, Los Angeles county, where conditions have proved especially favorable to its growth; more trees are to be found in this vicinity today than in any other locality in the state.

"The superior hardness of the Cherimoya has made it one of the most widely planted of the lesser known subtropical fruits. The number of mature specimens is not more than a few hundred, but their wide distribution and success go to prove the adaptability of the tree to an extensive area in this state. Of these seedlings scattered throughout the gardens of Southern California practically all have been successful so far as growth is concerned; but a large percentage are scantily productive. A study of the habits of the tree shows this to be nothing unusual and not due to anything unfavorable in our climate or soil. The Cherimoya is never enormously productive; but there are occasional seedlings much more prolific than the average, and this is the case in California as well as other countries.

"Cultivation on a commercial scale has been undertaken in but few instances, and with unsatisfactory results in practically all of them, the trees failing to produce sufficiently to make their culture profitable. For this difficulty a single, and exceedingly simple, remedy suggests itself: asexual propagation, making possible the perpetuation of productive and otherwise desirable seedlings, true to type. This is already practiced in other countries and here to a very limited extent.

"The largest grove of Cherimoyas in California is that owned by A. Z. Taft of Hollywood, consisting of some eighty fifteen-year-old seedlings. No finer specimens could be desired than some of these, but the majority of them are deplorably unproductive; if the five best trees were taken out a bushel of fruit could not be gathered from the lot. One tree alone, more prolific than the others, produces about one-fourth as many fruits as the remaining trees taken together. It is easily seen that such a grove does not pay for the care bestowed upon it, but if worked over to a prolific variety it could be transformed into a very profitable holding.

"It has been questioned by some whether the climate of California will produce a Cherimoya of the best quality. This query arises from the fact that many of the fruits produced here are of poor flavor. The explanation is that seeds from inferior fruits have been planted, and a lot of degenerate seedlings produced. Experience leaves no doubt on this point, since some of the fruits grown here are all that could be desired in flavor and quality."—Paul B. Popenoe, "The Cherimoya in California."

The Cherimoya is believed to have originated in Central America, although DeCandolle, in his "Origin of Cultivated Plants," considered it to have been indigenous in Ecuador and the neighboring part of Peru. A Spanish writer, however, notes seeing it in Guatemala city in 1629, when he forwarded seeds to a friend in Peru. It was more than one hundred years later that it first found its way to Europe. It is grown to great perfection in the Mexican highlands, Madeira and the Canary Islands. In the great central plateau of Mexico it has been cultivated for hundreds of years and reaches its greatest perfection; experiencing comparatively high temperatures with a very low degree of humidity as a rule during the dry season; the winters being cool with comparatively light rainfall—a climate in many respects very similar to that of Southern California. In the Canary Islands it is systematically cultivated and regularly pruned and fertilized, in some instances vineyards having been replaced by the Cherimoya.

The most successful method of propagation, and the only method of obtaining with certainty trees true to type, is by budding, which is done early in the spring, as soon as the sap begins to flow freely. It can be readily propagated by means of seeds. Both budded and seedling trees usually come into bearing in about the fourth year, and require similar care to the orange and lemon tree. The fruit ripens in California mainly in March and April; although in some parts of Mexico the Cherimoya can be obtained the year round. Extensive introductions of hardy types into California have been made the past few years from the highlands of Mexico.

The fruit, which is now again seen on the market, varies in color from dull green to light russet, and is most commonly conical or oblong in shape, varying in size from one to six inches in diameter. C. P. Taft of Orange notes that specimens of the Golden Russet Cherimoya not uncommonly exceed one pound in weight. There is little doubt but that in the Cherimoya we have a fruit of great promise for commercial cultivation; and as soon as standard varieties have been propagated and planted considerable expansion will take place in its growth. Inferior seedlings in the past have given the Cherimoya an unfavorable reputation in this state; but once this is removed, and widespread interest is shown in the propagation of the fruit, great strides will take place and California will see the addition of one more to her list of profitable commercial fruits.

ments of olives to the United States, though Italy still supplies most of our imported olive oil. The domestic orange has almost entirely supplanted the imported fruit; the few oranges still being imported coming chiefly from Jamaica. Mexican oranges are no longer imported, having been excluded by plant-quarantine order. An important industry, that island having sent us last year four million dollars' worth, or forty times as much as in 1903. Cuba is also an important source, while pineapples are received from Porto Rico in rapidly increasing quantities.

The so-called English walnut is almost exclusively the product of France, from which country we import from 15 to 25 million pounds annually. Our imported almonds are mostly from Spain and Italy; our filberts from Italy and Spain; cream nuts from Brazil; coconuts in the shell, from Central America and the West Indies; coconut meat, or copra, from the Philippines and other Oriental islands; and peanuts, from Japan, Spain, China, and in lesser quantities from various countries in Europe, Asia and North America.

While domestic consumption still absorbs our rapidly growing production of fruits, the exports of that class are distributed in all parts of the world. Europe is the principal customer for all of our exported fruits except oranges, lemons and raisins. Germany takes about one-half of the dried apples and the United Kingdom a like proportion of the green apples exported. Nearly one-half of the apricots went last year to France, Germany and the Netherlands, while the United Kingdom alone took one-third of the total. Nearly all of the oranges, over three-fourths of the lemons, and over one-half of the raisins exported went to Canada. Germany and Canada each take about one-third of the dried peaches exported, the remainder going to about fifty different countries. Out of 94 million pounds of prunes exported last year, 34 million went to Germany, 14 million to France, 11 million to the United Kingdom, and 12 million to Canada.

Fruits and nuts exported last year included: Apples, green or ripe, 7½ million dollars; dried apples, 2½ million; prunes, 5½ million; oranges, 2 2½ million; apricots, 2 1½ million; berries, two-thirds of a million; and peanuts, lemons, and peaches, each one-third million.

Fruits and Nuts in the Nation's Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON, April 14.—More than half a billion dollars' worth of fruits and nuts passed into and out of domestic ports during the last decade, 365 millions being imports and 220 million exports. The trade in each direction has about doubled in the last decade, imports having risen from 24½ to 48½ million dollars and exports from 19½ to 33½ million dollars in the period from 1903 to 1913.

The opening months of 1914 show, according to statistics compiled by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, increased imports and diminished exports of fruits and nuts as compared with January and February of last year. Imports during the first two months of this year aggregated over 6 million dollars' value, or 20 per cent more than those for a like period of 1913, while exports amounted to 4 million dollars, or about 30 per cent less than a year ago. The sharp decrease in exports reflects the shortage in crops during 1913 on the Pacific coast, where, it is reported, stocks of all kinds of dried fruits on hand at the present time are at the lowest point ever recorded.

Our domestic food supply was supplemented last year by 32 million dollars' worth of fruits and 16 million dollars' worth of nuts from foreign countries and, in addition, over 4 million dollars' worth of fruits and nuts from Hawaii and 3½ million dollars' worth from Porto Rico.

A comparatively small number of countries supply most of the fruits and nuts, other than those of domestic production, consumed in the United States. Bananas are exclusively from American countries, chiefly the British West Indies and Central America; last year's imports were valued at 15 million dollars, or almost double the figures of 1903. Sicily supplied most of the 6½ million dollars' worth of lemons imported. We now import over 40 million pounds of dates annually, chiefly from Asiatic Turkey. Currants come principally from Greece, from which country we import from 30 to 40 million pounds annually. Most of the 20 million pounds of figs imported annually come from a strip of land near Smyrna about 90 miles long and less than one mile wide, this being the world's chief dried-fig district. We also import from one to two million cubic feet of grapes, nearly all from Spain. Spain rivals Asiatic Turkey as a source for our imported raisins and exceeds Greece and Italy in shipment of olives to the United States, though Italy still supplies most of our imported olive oil. The domestic orange has almost entirely supplanted the imported fruit; the few oranges still being imported coming chiefly from Jamaica. Mexican oranges are no longer imported, having been excluded by plant-quarantine order. An important industry, that island having sent us last year four million dollars' worth, or forty times as much as in 1903. FINE ESSAY
ON CHINA BY
E. H. MUNSON

In the "Foreign Mail," a publication edited by the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, the following article appears in the March number. It was written by E. H. Munson, who is a son of C. R. Munson, of North Main street, this city. E. H. Munson is a student Y. M. C. A. secretary, of China.

A Student Generation Inclined Christward

Seidom has the Christian Church faced such an opportunity as lies before it today in China. The revolution has come and gone, but the new ideals and the transformed nation have come to stay, and with the marvelous change in the political, social and economic life of China the religious change has kept pace. During the year 1912-13, undisturbed by the political conditions except during a few weeks, the forces of Christianity have made a marvelous advance in the extension of the Kingdom. By far the most encouraging and significant advance among the students of China has been in connection with the evangelistic campaigns conducted by Dr. Mott and Mr. Eddy. In less than two months' time almost 7000 government school men became inquirers of Christianity, and during the six months in which there has been time to follow up this wonderful movement over 500 of these have become probationers or been baptized in various churches. Previous to this year, Christian men among the government schools of all China could have been numbered by the fingers of both hands. But the years of cultivation and endeavor bore fruit during these meetings. Never has officialdom been so favorable to Christianity and the Christian propaganda as during those days.

Not less marvelous than the official recognition of the value of these meetings was the support given by the students in each center. Special invitations and receptions were accorded Dr. Mott and Mr. Eddy by the student organizations of different cities. When the calls were given for those who desired to become inquirers to Christianity, to study the Bible daily and to follow Jesus Christ as soon as they learned the truth, literally hundreds of men seized the opportunity without hesitation. The students of every school seemed to have been waiting for just such a privilege of investigating Jesus Christ. There was a total attendance of over 100,000 men at these meetings and the accompanying scientific lectures given by Professor Robertson. This is by far the largest number of students who have ever turned out to hear any individual lecture in China. The seed has been sown and has borne fruit. The doors are open and we have entered. God has given wonderful results in our efforts among these non-Christian men, and it is only by His power that we shall be able to carry on the work thus begun.

One of the most important results of these evangelistic meetings has been the fact that students from mission and government schools have been united. Previous to this year we have held separate conferences for these two groups of men, very little intercourse has been carried on by the students themselves. The Christian men of the mission schools looked down upon their non-Christian fellow students in the government schools as below them; the non-Christian men of the government schools looked upon the Christian students in the Christian schools with disdain because they had become followers of the foreigner's religion. In every center where these evangelistic meetings were held the larger percentage of personal workers were students from Christian schools. These men spent weeks in preparation. They learned to know the government school student and his problems, and in knowing him they came to sympathize with him. Before the meetings were over the government school student learned to know the Christian student, and in knowing him they came to recognize his superior abilities and the power which Christianity had exerted in his life. Since these meetings, these two groups of students have been working together in lines of social service. In the various centers, and together they have attended various student conferences during the summer. If the great mass of non-Christian students in the government schools of China are to be brought into the Kingdom, it must be done by and through those men who are already Christians in our mission schools. We believe that the fusion of these two groups of students in various activities of social service is absolutely essential, both to the welfare of the nation and to the proper development of the student life.

During the year under review, Pastor Ding Li Mei has given his full time visiting mission schools in ten or twelve provinces, holding evangelistic meetings, meeting with student volunteer bands, and attendance at various conferences. Many of the students continue to answer the call, motivated by him for a more efficient and better educated ministry. During the year, five new bands have been organized, making a total of twenty-two now in existence in twelve different provinces. More than 100 men have volunteered as a result of Pastor Ding's visits, and with the additions which have come at the student conferences the total has reached 150 for the year.

In our report of last year, we said that one of the outstanding features of the student Association work had been social service. Even more true has it been of the work during this year. Almost every student Association visited during the past few months by the student secretary has been able to report some form of social service work done.

The most thorough and efficient social work propaganda has been carried on by the students of Tientsin and Peking. During the last year they have engaged in the following lines of social service: Public addresses by students on needed forms of service and against social evils;

MRS. CARLSON B. PARSONS, who has brought suit against her youthful husband for divorce, and against Mrs. John C. Fisher for alienation of his affections.

MRS. CARLSON B. PARSONS, the debutante daughter of a wealthy Los Angeles hotel owner, has sued her young husband for divorce. The suit is the result of the husband's escape with Mrs. John C. Fisher, wife of the theatrical man who originated the Morodora girls. Two weeks after his marriage Parsons joined Mrs. Fisher in San Francisco, and Earl Rogers, the attorney, was sent to that city to return the young man to his mother. The story of their escapade was widely published at the time. Parsons is 22 and Mrs. Fisher is many years his senior. Mrs. Parsons has also instituted an alienation suit against Mrs. Fisher and the former's attorneys are now collecting evidence for use in both suits.

OPENS UP NOSTRILS, CLEARS HEAD,
ENDS COLD OR CATARRH AT ONCE

Instantly Relieves Swollen, Inflamed Nose, Head, Throat—You Breathe Freely—Dull Headache Goes—Nasty Discharge Stops.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By murning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heats the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucus dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Advertisement.

ance among the students of this land, when we recall that over 3000 non-Christian students have been studying the message of the living Christ!

E. H. MUNSON.

"Faultless" Houdans

This strain has been egg-bred from trapnest records since April, 1890. I have bred them 21 years for great layers and 12 years for large size chalk-white eggs; these fowls are extremely hardy, have neither comb nor wattle to freeze, and are the best of all winter layers in open front coops. Faultless strain Houdans have won every blue ribbon at New York, Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia shows for past six years; eggs and stock sold on honor; send 19c for the largest illustrated poultry catalogue ever issued; it tells you how to breed these fowls, which average 250 eggs a year apiece; it tells you how to net $3,000 a year from 100 hens. E. F. MacAVOY, Secretary Houdan Club, Cambridge, N. Y.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT

THREE MONTHS
FOR CRUELTY
TO HIS HORSE

Anson McGillvrey is Again in Trouble—Allec's Wood Sold
by Sheriff

Angus McGillvrey seems to think he is entitled to get into trouble once in awhile. At least he told Justice Cox this morning that he did not see any reason why his conduct should be jumped on.

He was in court on a charge of cruelty to a horse. J. H. McMillan of Westminster swore to a complaint and told the justice that McGillvrey beat his horse over the head with the reins and caused the animal to back into a ditch. Then he beat the horse with a club because he got in the ditch, and beat him some more because he did not climb out. He abused the people who dug the ditch for digging it so deep, and he abused McMillan and McMillan's father for not dragging the horse out of the mire as quickly as McGillvrey thought was necessary.

McMillan boasted McGillvrey, and McGillvrey dashed at him with a knife. When McMillan gave him a gentle shove, McGillvrey skated backward along the highway.

Last December McGillvrey was sent to jail for twenty days for disturbing the peace. This time he said he had taken no liquor except half a glass of wine. Sheriff Rudbeck and Deputy Dean, who were called out, found two dozen empty beer bottles in his buggy. Justice Cox sentenced McGillvrey to

A CANDIDATE FOR STATE TREASURER

From the San Diego Union, March 3, 1914: Ed. L. Head, of San Diego, at present occupying the position of keeper of the state archives at Sacramento, is being urged by his friends to become a candidate for state treasurer on the Republican ticket. Head is a former business man of this city, and a member of San Diego Lodge No. 148 of the Elks. Before coming to San Diego he resided in San Francisco, where for twenty years he was cashier and treasurer of the Spring Valley Water Company. He also served two terms as a member of the board of education in that city. For six years Head served as grand treasurer of the Eagles.

Mr. Head has announced his candidacy, and will be a candidate for the nomination of state treasurer on the Republican ticket at the primaries August 25, 1914.

BAPTIST HOME FOR AGED TO BE GIVEN BY BURBANK WOMAN

BURBANK, April 14.—Mrs. Hanna A. Baldwin, whose many charities are widely known throughout the Pacific Southwest, has begun the erection of a Baptist home for aged people which will be given to the Baptist Convention of California, an incorporated association, to maintain and conduct. With it will be transferred the five-acre tract on which it is being built, on the corner of Cypress and Fourth streets, adjoining the site of the high school property. The location affords an imposing view of the valley, and the mountain range on the other.

Contractor George M. Easton of Los Angeles began the work yesterday. Charles H. Ponero's force of men and teams doing the excavation work.

The structure, three stories high, will cost about $35,000. The estimated value of the site is $20,000. The home will be built of brick, with plastered exterior.

ATLANTIC FLEET IS ORDERED TO TAMPICO

as partial reparation for the recent arrest by federalists of unarmed American marines at Tampico. Admiral Mayo, in command of the United States fleet at Tampico, is known to have sent word that it is useless for the fleet to remain at Tampico after the late arrest of the marines unless the salute to the flag is insisted upon. The Mexicans at best are hostile, he is reported to have stated, and the situation is likely to become impossible if they are permitted to think they can insult the Americans with impunity. There are no indications that the salute is to be forthcoming, according to the latest news available here.

Lind was present at the cabinet meeting that followed the conference, where he presented statistics showing Huerta's exact financial and military status. When asked, before the meeting, if he expects to return to Mexico he said he had no definite plans; that it depends upon President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

Solicitor Johnson of the State Department was called into conference. This was taken as an indication that the President was considering the question of international law. Bryan looked distinctly worried when he arrived at the conference. He answered impatiently when asked if the federalists at Tampico had yet saluted the flag. He replied: "I can't say a word. This is no time to discuss questions of national importance."

None of the parties to the conference denied that the situation is very grave. The tension has been increased instead of diminished, and it is admitted that the conference did little to clear the atmosphere.

The only statement given out following the conference was to the effect that the President is backing Admiral Mayo in his demand that the Mexicans salute the flag, which has not yet been done. It is agreed that American Charge D'Affaires O'Shaughnessy in Mexico City is one of the dominating figures in the situation. It is known that he is trying to persuade General Huerta, with whom he is on friendly relations, to order the salute.

HUERTA SHOWS NO
SIGN OF RECESSION

MEXICO CITY, April 14.—The city is quiet. General Huerta, who is in communication with Tampico, exhibited no sign today of recession from his refusal to order a salute to the American flag.

EXPLORER NEEDS $200,000
FOR POLAR EXPEDITION

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Private reports from Christians were received here tonight that Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, must have $200,000 before he can equip his proposed polar expedition. Explorers and scientists here expressed the belief that it would be practically impossible to raise the sum.
